At the same time, Mr. Myers is charging other candidates at the going rate of $11.00 per column inch, plus $160.00full color charge. These ads have put Mr. Anderson over $5000.00 and Mr. Myers over the $500.00 maximums. I have provided the PDC with the newspapers the ads occurred in.

Letters To The Editor

The Failure of our Political Class

To the Editor:

These past months we have seen a movement develop around Donald Trump, as he has managed to tap into a very angry American citizen who has been jerked around for decades by a failed Republican and Democratic parties. These parties have produced a dysfunctional congress.

We pay congress members $174,000 a year; yet since 2001 they have worked on the average of only 3 days a week. A recent CBS program just reported for the days they are in session they are expected to spend it should be obvious that our failed national parties only have their interest in mind, not ours.

Their performance has resulted in the loss of our middle class, military weakness, $19 trillion in debt, a poor education system, etc. Congress has a favorable rating of only 14%.

I'm proudly a recovering Republican. I finally quit the Republican Party many years ago as I was able to observe the voter corruption first hand, practiced by the so-called Republican "party leaders." It's not about us the people, it's all about getting more money, which equates to influence for a few big contributors.

I see daily where big contributors are buying the votes of some of those running for president, but this is also true not the members within the party trying to serve the people that are the issue, it's the corruption that takes place when one wants to become a party leader and in effect, makes a pack with the devil to obtain a "title." All sense of responsibility to the average citizen is lost and their focus becomes all about their political titles or just wanna-be king makers.

I see in the presidential primaries where citizen's votes are being discounted, or citizens are not allowed to vote, because of the "rules." Well the party political leaders make the rules each year so the rules made by a very few control the events for that year.

Our current political system(s) has failed us. We need to clean house and start again.

Please Show Support for Anderson

To the Editor:

I would like to ask the readers of the Willapa Harbor Herald and the Chinook Observer to support Dick Anderson in his bid for PUD commissioner. Over the course of the last several years it has become apparent that a couple of the PUD commissioners on this board are in need of being replaced by individuals that actually represent the people that elected them. Dick Anderson has attended almost every commission meeting held in Raymond since 2013. He has also attended many meetings that were held in Long Beach.

There are no other candidates to this date that have attended more than just a few meetings. This shows the commitment that Dick Anderson is making to see that the public is involved in the PUD process. Dick has opposed the Tokeland extension project from the start over a decade ago and he is still vocal about how this project does not make sense for the ratepayers of Pacific County. Dick has also worked to see that billing that comes from the PUD is open and entirely accounted for so the customer is no longer surprised when they receive their bill. Anderson has voiced many times his disapproval of the exorbitant level of pay that the PUD top management receives and that Commissioner Thompson and Hatfield have voted in favor of time and time again. Dick Anderson believes that the public needs to have a say at the commission meetings and has said in the past that the meetings should be held in the evening rather than during the day so that the public can attend and be heard.

I am writing this letter at 11:00 am on Tuesday morning, the first Tuesday of the month. On this day every month there is a PUD commission meeting at 1 pm. You can bet that Dick will be there.

I support Dick Anderson and I ask you to as well.

Simple Steps to Protect Yourself from Melanoma Skin Cancer

Dear Savvy Senior,
Does skin cancer run in families? My 63-year-old brother died of melanoma last year, and I'm wondering about my risks of getting this. What can you tell me?

Younger Sibling

Dear Sibling,
While long-term sun exposure and sunburns are the biggest risk factors for melanoma – the deadliest form of skin cancer – having a sibling or parent with melanoma does indeed increase your risk of getting it two to three times.

Each year, about 75,000 Americans are diagnosed with melanoma, and around 10,000 people will die from it. While anyone can get it, those most often diagnosed are caucasians, age 50 and older. And those with the highest risk are people with red or blond hair, blue or green eyes, fair skin, freckles, moles, a family history of skin cancer and those who had blistering sunburns in their youth.

Skin Exams

The best way you can guard against melanoma and other skin cancers (basal and squamous cell carcinomas) is to protect yourself from the sun, and if you're over age 50, get a full-body skin exam done by a dermatologist every year, especially if you're high risk.

Self-examinations done every month or so is also a smart way to detect early problems. Using mirrors, check the front and backside of your entire body, including the tops and undersides of your arms and hands, between your toes and the soles of your feet, your neck, scalp and buttocks. Be on the lookout for new growths, moles that have changed, or sores that don't heal. Follow the ABCDE rule when examining suspicious moles.

- Asymmetry: One half of a mole doesn't match the other.

- Border: The border is blurred or ragged.

- Color: The mole has uneven colors, often shades of brown, tan or black, with patches of pink, red, white or blue.

- Diameter: The lesion is new or at least a quarter-inch in diameter.

- Evolving: The mole is changing in size, shape or color.

For more self-examination tips and actual pictures of what to look for, see SkinCancer.org or Melanoma.org.

In the spring and summer, there are a variety of places that offer free skin cancer screenings. Check with the American Academy of Dermatology (888-462-3376, aad.org/public/spot-skin-cancer), which offers screenings done by hundreds of volunteer dermatologists across the U.S., and the American Society for Dermatologic Surgery (asds.net/skincancerscreening.aspx).

Sun Protection

Even though you can't change your skin or family history, there are some proven strategies that can help you protect yourself.

For starters, avoid tanning beds, and when you go outside, slather on broad-spectrum SPF 30, water-resistant sunscreen on both sunny and cloudy days. If you don't like the rub-on lotions, try the continuous spray-on sunscreens which are easier to apply and less messy. Also, seek the shade when rays are most intense – between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

You can also protect your skin by wearing a wide-brimmed hat, and long sleeves and pants when possible. The best clothing options are tightly-woven fabric that help prevent the sun's rays from reaching your skin, or you can wash-in an invisible shield sun protection into your cloths with SunGuard laundry additive (see sunguardsunprotection.com). You can even buy a variety of lightweight clothing and hats that offer maximum UV protection in their fabric. Coolibar.com and SunPrecautions.com are two sites that offer these products.

not, the cancer can advance and spread to other parts of the body, where it becomes hard to treat and can be fatal. Standard treatment for melanoma is surgical removal. In advanced cases however, chemotherapy or radiation may also be used, along with a variety of new drug treatments.

It was reported that Eveland was at the house on Tuesday evening around 9pm, a family member reported to have dropped the victim off and seen Eveland at the residence. Eveland is known to be driving a light colored, full-sized pickup with a matching canopy, possibly gold or white colored. Eveland is described to be six feet, one inches tall and about 220 pounds with blue eyes and brown hair.
