This was an unintentional oversight. I made the correction by adding to the "about" section of my Facebook page. "paid for by the committee to elect Lori Sanders" I'm not sure if that is what you are looking for. I checked other political websites, including my opponent's, and did not see this statement listed. I did take a screen shot to show that it had been done.

However, Since the elections are over I will be removing my website immediately to avoid any further charges.
