Fox Blackhorn:

I sent the personal letter and did not realize I had to put sponsor ID on it. What is the consequence? It was an honest mistake.

This is my personal e-mail, which pdc might have, as I e-mailed Chip Read last week about another matter from this email.

To clarify my response, the mailing was paid for by my campaign. Since this was a personal letter, it did not occur to me to put the required language on. I have complied with all other requirements to the best of my knowledge, and accept responsibility for my error.
