

File a Formal Complaint - Katie Platt

Kplatt reported 3 days ago (Mon, 11 Sep at 8:46 AM) via Portal Meta

In his capacity as a School Board Director, David Olson took photos and videos of children on their first day at school. He took these without knowledge or consent of their parents during school hours. He then posted the media to his campaign Facebook page, which he pays to promote. He also posted the media to his own personal Facebook page. My son was in several of the pictures, inside the school cafeteria at Goodman Middle School and I am not pleased. His image was exploited for political gain.

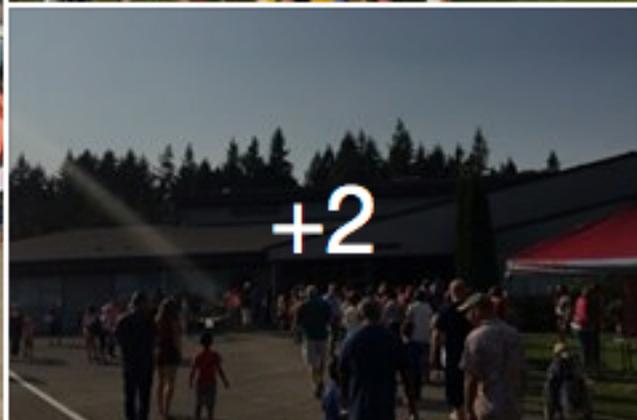

I'm not sure if this was thought through. Some children are in the middle of difficult situations and their school location should not be shared publicly. Some parents are very careful to not put this out there and in this instance, no one had any choice.

Spoke to a lot of new parents at HHE this afternoon. So much energy. Love seeing the young scholars as they've up grow up over the past four years.
