

A DOCUMENTED HISTORY OF MAYOR JOHN HOPKINS DISREGARD FOR THE LAWS, ORDINANCES, AND REGULATIONS.

- 10/04/73 Anchorage Alaska, arrested for removing and concealing, FBI #14359N7.
- 01/99 Charged in Pierce County for failure to obtain building and fire permits. If convicted could be fined $1000.00 and or 3 months in jail. Flooded neighboring yards with unpermitted fill. Charges dropped. The City of Puyallup annexed the property 3 days before trial.

SINCE HOPKINS HAS BEEN ON THE CITY COUNCIL

- 03/18/14 stated he had voted for a marijuana moratorium in the past, but was now voting against it because he had a renter who wanted to use his property for a marijuana business. Puyallup C.C Meeting.
- 10/14 Property owned by Hopkins raided by State, Local, and Federal Law Agencies. An unlawful hash oil lab was in full production. Hopkins claimed he had no relationship with the renter and was unaware of what was occurring in his building. Emails between Hopkins and his tenant tell a different story. Hopkins said he collected rent in cash on the sidewalk. KOMO News, Tacoma News Tribune
- 02/15 Hopkins pays a fine of $3337.82 plus for violating State Labor Laws. Hopkins housed one of his employees in a storage shed, no plumbing, no heat and no windows. Other employees were not paid what is required by the Department of Labor and Industries. Hopkins has proudly stated that he was a business agent for an electricians union. Several days after leaving the storage shed, Hopkins employee was contacted by police in a semi-trailer on Hopkins property. See Puyallup Police Report.
- Date uncertain. Hopkins filed a code compliance complaint on property, next to his property on East Main. 08/03/15 email verifies complaint. After the owner sold the property, the new owner became entangled in City building codes and compliance issues. Hopkins offered to buy the property. Hopkins offer was far less than the tax value or real value of the property. This issue is ongoing at this time.

SUMMARY

- It is apparent that John Hopkins is willing to pass laws that require the public to follow what he legislates, but is not willing to follow the same laws. Why should any of us have to follow the rules and laws if our elected officials don't have to? It becomes apparent as to why the Puyallup Police Association has never endorsed John Hopkins.
